

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE:

A connector is provided for terminating coaxial cable. The connector includes a connector body having an annular detent disposed therein and a locking sleeve detachably coupled to the connector body and having a plurality of evenly spaced protrusions formed thereon. The plurality of evenly spaced protrusions are received in the detent when the coaxial cable is terminated in the connector.

5